

Enabling Resilient Supply Chains in the Face of Disruption

Queen of Raw Marketplace enables fashion brands and retailers to buy and sell unused inventory (from raw materials to finished goods) with our global network, providing businesses a quick and easy way to secure discounted inventory based on real-time location and availability while generating revenue and offloading excess stock.

Queen of Raw Integrated Dashboard ("Materia MX") is for enterprise organizations to visualize the savings to their bottom- and top- lines as well as to the environment by the actions they take across the Queen of Raw platform.

Discover New Opportunities:

- Save money: Secure the inventory needed across your supply lines at a steep discount
- Intelligently reallocate your waste: Free up costly warehouse space by quickly and easily selling excess stock to a community of buyers
- Access real-time supply chain and sustainability data: Assess vulnerabilities and track how your involvement in the community is reducing carbon emissions, water consumption, landfill dumping, and a host of business priorities

Easily Participate in the Queen of Raw Platform:

- Integration into your existing inventory management system
- Turnkey matchmaking between buyers and sellers
- Fully-automated payment processing and international shipping logistics
- Transactions recorded in seconds and data is analyzed
